A HORSE AND NEGRO THIEF ARRESTED.—A woman named Lewis, who has a husband living on the farm of Dr. Hardin, in Barren county, stole two horses and a negro man from the Dr., brought them to this city, and tried to sell the horses to Mr. Levi, who keeps a livery stable. Judging all was not right, Mr. Levi partially bargained for the horses, and told her he would see her again in the morning. Mrs. Lewis is said to be a handsome and intelligent looking woman, about 20 years of age. She has a child with her about fifteen months old. Dr. Hardin arrived last night, and had the woman and man arrested and put in the lock-up. The husband of the woman was arrested on suspicion.

HARDIN'S TACTICS.—See Tompkins & Co.'s advertisement of the above book. The work is a complete edition, with the plates admirably executed. No expense appears to have been spared by the publishers, and we can confidently recommend it as the only correct and full edition to be obtained in the Southern States. In addition to Hardin's it contains the manual for the use of the Kentucky State Guard, which, in itself, is invaluable to military men. The whole work is finished in first-rate style, and reflects the highest credit on the enterprise of the publishers.
